Men who skip breakfast on a regular basis face a 27 percent higher risk of heart attack or death from coronary artery disease than those who are more consistent about eating their morning meal. That's according to a 16-year study published in the American Heart Association journal Circulation. There are several theories to explain why skipping breakfast presents such a risk. Researchers suggested, for example, that going longer without new calories sources puts greater long-term stress on the body, which can, in turn, lead to higher levels of fasting insulin, triglycerides and LDL (bad) cholesterol.

[1]

Researchers found that the man who skipped breakfast tended to be smokers, had lower level of physical activity, and drank more alcohol, though even when such factors were accounted for in the study, men who skipped breakfast still had higher heart health than those who didn't skip breakfast.

Sachin Tendulkar may have hung up his pads but the applause continues. The cricketer turned-legislator was among the top five most admired people on the planet-a list that counted Bill Gates, Barack Obama, the Pope and the Dalai Lama.

Gates topped the list of 30 drawn up by You Gov for The Times. The world's most admired people poll surveyed almost 14,000 people across the world. There were four Indians in the top ten and seven over all. AAP leader and Delhi chief minister Arvind Kejriwal made an entry, at number 18, a little behind his mentor Anna Hazare, who came in at number 14.

Sachin, 40, was fifth followed by prime ministerial candidate N.Modi (7th) Amitabh Bachan (9th), former President Abdul Kalam (10th) and tycoon Ratan Tata (30th). Gates, 58, earned more admiration than US president Barack Obama who was second. Russian President Vladimir Putin came in third, followed by reformist Pope Francis.

- 1) What has Sachin recently done?
- 2) What is the ranking of Sachin in top ten admired people?
- 3) How many Indians are there in top ten?
- 4) Who is the USA President?
- 5) Who is Russian President and what is his ranking among the top ten admired people?

Whose woods these are I think I know
His house is in the village though;
He will not see me stopping here
To watch his woods filled up with snow
My little horse must think it queer
To stop without a farm-house near
Between the woods and frozen lakes
The darkest evening of the year
He gives his harness bells a shake
To ask if there is some mistake.
The only other sounds the sweep
Of easy wind and downy flake .
The woods are lovely dark and deep
But I have promises to keep
And miles to go before I sleep
And miles to go before I sleep
