Keeping Quiet 5 Marks Important Questions –120 to 150 words

1. What is the central idea of the poem?

Ans. The poem is centred around the idea of introspection. The poet suggests silence and stillness for twelve seconds. During this period everyone will ponder over the repercussions of his acts. This period of stillness will be an exotic moment. It will be unusual because there will be no activity.

The poet hopes that we all will come together and have brotherhood. We will realize the wastefulness of wars, the ill effects of harming sea life, the damage done to the environment and the harm done to our bodies while we work. He suggests that we remain quiet because languages create barriers between people. The poet wants to unify the world and wants us to act responsibly towards every living being.

2. Summarize the poem 'Keeping Quiet'.

A. The poet asks us to count till twelve and remain quiet. He wants us not to speak because languages divide people. He wants us to be still. Such a moment when no engines are running, no one is in a hurry, will be an exotic moment. Everyone will get together in such a strange moment. The fishermen will stop harming sea life, the salt gatherers will look at their damaged hands.

Those indulging in wars will realize the bloodshed that they cause. There will be brotherhood as everyone will come together in this period of inactivity. We will realize and start life afresh. He does not equate inactivity with death. At times, the Earth appears to be inactive but then gradually, things start appearing on it. It gets renewed. Similarly, we must also start a new life. We need to understand our actions and then plan new actions. This will give us positive results.
