

Class 7 English Honeycomb Chapter 5 Important Questions

7th Class English Chapter-5 Important Questions Set – 1

How was Mr. Gessler's language?

Mr. Gessler spoke English with an influence of his mother tongue which proved that he wasn't an Englishman.

Who lived in London in his shoe shop?

Mr. Gessler lived in London in his shoe shop.

What was written on the signboard at the shop?

Mr. Gessler's shop didn't have any other signs except Gessler Brother written on it.

What was Mr. Gessler's guess regarding the discomfort in shoes?

Mr. Gessler pressed with his finger at a particular point and he could make it out that the left boot wasn't giving comfort to the author.

7th Class English Chapter-5 Important Questions Set – 2

What was the author's opinion about Mr. Gessler as a bootmaker?

The author thought high about Mr. Gessler about boot making. He made only what was ordered, and what he made never failed to fit. To the author making boots—such boots as he made—seemed to him mysterious and wonderful.

Why was it not possible to go to Mr. Gessler very often?

One could not go to Mr. Gessler's shop very often and the reason was his excellent ability to make excellent and everlasting boots. His boots lasted terribly, having something beyond the temporary as if some essence of boot stitched into them.

How does one feel when he turns up to the shop of Mr. Gessler?

When one goes into the shop of Mr. Gessler, it is not like any other shop. One feels that as if one has entered a Church. One sits on the chair waiting to be served. And then Mr. Gessler would come with a guttural sound, and the tip-tap of his slippers beating the narrow wooden stairs and he would stand before one without a coat, a little bent, in a leather apron, with sleeves turned back, blinking—as if awakened from some dream of boots.

How were the shoes of distinct?

Mr. Gessler made boots from the finest quality leather and craftsmanship.

Why did Mr. Gessler fail to recognize the author?

The narrator did not come to Mr. Gessler's shop and secondly, Mr. Gessler failed to recognize the author during his final days which proves that he had grown old.

Why was the author visit the shop?

Answer: The author preferred boots made by Mr. Gessler because Mr. Gessler's boots were durable. They were made from the best leathers and fitted perfectly well. The author was very attached to Mr. Gessler.

7th Class English Chapter-5 Important Questions Set – 3

How did the narrator express his gratitude for the shoemaker?

The author went to the shop to thank Mr. Gessler for making the great boots. Every time, he gave orders to help them financially.

The narrator was awestruck at the craft and skill. Describe his appreciation for him?

Mr. Gessler made boots only on orders. His boots were perfect in size. They lasted long and were made from the best leathers.

The passion of Mr. Gessler wasn't fruitful. How?

The author had mistaken Mr. Gessler for his elder brother because he looked too old. There was a thin lining of hair left on the top portion of his head. During the last meeting with the author within one year. Mr. Gessler had grown older by around 10 years. He looked tired and exhausted. The hardships of the trade have taken a toll on his health. He even failed to recognize the author at first.

When the author would want a pair of Russian leather boots, how would Mr. Gessler react?

When the author asked for a Russian leather boot, without a word he would leave the author retiring and whence he came, or into the other portion of the shop, and the author would continue to rest in the wooden chair inhaling the incense of his trade. Soon he would come back, holding in his hand a piece of gold-brown leather. With eyes fixed on it, he would remark, "What a beautiful piece!" When the author too had admired it, he would speak again. "When do you want dem?" And the author would answer, "Oh! As soon as you conveniently can." And he would say, "Tomorrow fortnight?"

7th Class English Chapter-5 Important Questions Set – 4

When the author went after two years to the shop of Mr. Gessler what surprised him?

As the boots made by Mr. Gessler lasted terribly, the author was unable to go to Mr. Gessler's shop before two years. When the author went it appeared to be his elder brother, handling a piece of leather. The author greeted and asked his whereabouts. Then he came close, and peered at the author and said, "I am breddy well", but my elder brudder is dead." And suddenly the author discovered him to be aged and wan.

What logic did Mr. Gessler give for his brother's death?

While talking about his elder brother Mr. Gessler touched the top of his head, where the hair had suddenly gone as thin as it had been on that of his poor brother, to indicate, he cause of his death.

After returning from abroad when the author went to the shop of Mr. Gessler what difference did he discover in Mr. Gessler?

After returning from abroad when the author went to the shop of Mr. Gessler, he found a different Man. He had left a Man of sixty and then he looked as if seventy-five, pinched and worn, who genuinely, that time, did not at first know the author.

How were the last boots made by Mr. Gessler for the author?

When one evening the boots which he had ordered came, one by one the author tried them on. In shape and fit, in finish and quality of leather, they were the best he had ever made. The author was so happy that he flew downstairs, wrote a cheque, and posted it at once with his hand.